

THE DEAD GENERAL

Nobody liked him while he lived;
They said he was a crabbed man;
They said he was a good man for his job,
But not a good man otherwise.
They said he had a mean and narrow soul,
Devoid of human kindness, pity. love.
But he was killed by a burst of mortar fire,
And so they praise him now.

This may not be published, distributed, sold or used for any purpose other than the reader's personal enjoyment without consent. Send inquires to: sid@sidwebb.com